Descriptions of Graded Course Components

Recitations: [4 total, each worth around 10% of your final grade] Private singing/playing exams will be administered at periodic intervals of the course of the semester. These will be held outside of our regular class meetings. I will distribute a study guide each recitations, then you'll have a week to schedule an appointment and complete the exam with either me or with my teaching assistant. Recitations will typically involve the singing of pre-assigned melodies and rhythms, and the singing of a melody at sight. Duets and keyboard exercises where students sing while playing will also be part of the recitations.

Homework Assignments: [Inductive Listening exercises completion graded; One Contextual Listening exercise from each chapter studied letter-graded; assigned on a daily basis] Homework will include sight-singing exercises, short melodic, rhythmic, and harmonic dictation exercises, and longer transcriptions of passages from music literature. At least one assignment per chapter will be collected and given a letter grade. Most assignments will not be submitted to the instructor, but will be discussed in class so that students can practice and hone listening skills without fear of a poor grade. Please resist the temptation of skipping assignments that I don't collect. Although it will not affect your grade in the short run, the lack of practice that the assignments afford will most definitely affect your performance on the items that I do grade.

Dictation Exams: [Letter-graded; two total; each worth about 10% of your final grade] Two exams will be administered in which you'll transcribe a number of short melodic, rhythmic, and/or harmonic examples. A longer transcription of a work from music literature will also be included. Both exams will be administered in the Mac lab.

Attendance: While not directly factored into your grade, attendance and participation are vital to learning. Students are expected to attend class regularly, arrive on time, and stay for the entire session. You are responsible for learning all material covered in class whether you are present or not. If you do miss a meeting or a portion of one, please ask a classmate if you may review his or her notes. See also "College Attendance Policy" on the following page for institutional expectations on this matter.

Course Websites

Our class companion website for this course is available at proferickson.com. Here you'll find printable documents (such as the syllabus and other handouts), assignments, resources, links to useful sites, and audio files. Any copyright-protected material will be posted in a password-protected directory (login: musc, password: 1045).

Late and Incomplete Assignments

Just as regular practice for lessons and ensembles is vital for the growth of musicianship, so too is consistent reinforcement of concepts and skills explored and developed in academic music classes. Therefore it is the policy of the Sheridan College Department of Music to expect our students to complete assignments by prescribed due dates. Assignments submitted after the due date will NOT be accepted. In the event of a documented emergency, late work may be accepted at the discretion of the instructor. Note: As the course officially ends after the administration of the final exam, no late work will be accepted after our scheduled final exam time concludes.

Absences and Make-up Policy

In cases of school-sponsored activities or illness resulting in an absence by the student, it is the student's responsibility to notify the instructor in advance of the missed class. Absences with advance notice are considered "excused." Students are responsible for all reading, listening and other homework assigned during the absence. Absences without prior notification to the instructor (“unexcused”) will automatically result in forfeiture of any possible points associated with the missed class.

Course Withdrawal/Petition for Incomplete Grade

On occasion, unforeseen circumstances may interfere with a student’s ability to complete a course or to accomplish a satisfactory level of personal academic achievement. If you find yourself in this situation, I encourage you to visit with me to evaluate your options. Rarely is a grade unsalvageable if a student is willing to take the steps necessary to rectify it. If, however, a student is ever unable to fully devote his or her energies to the coursework, withdrawal may be the best option. Consult the college’s academic calendar for the withdrawal deadline. Paperwork for withdrawals can be obtained from the Office of Records and Admissions.

A temporary grade of “I” or “incomplete” is available to students who cannot finish the course due to an emergency situation that arises late in the semester. The administration of an incomplete is at the instructor’s discretion. Although I can be flexible depending on the circumstances of the student, my general policy is that the student should have at least 75% of the course completed and have a current grade of C or better at the time of the request for the incomplete grade. The incomplete portion of the course must be completed by the end of the semester following the request (summer sessions excluded) or the “I” will revert to an “F.”

Northern Wyoming Community College District Policies

Disability Statement: Students with disabilities who believe they may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to contact the Student Success Center as soon as possible to ensure such accommodations may be implemented.
